If so, Chief Ort will be thankful for information.

MAYSVILLE WEATHER.

What We May Expect for the Next Twenty-four Hours.

THE LEDGER'S WEATHER SIGNALS.

White Streamer—FAIR!
Blue—RAIN or SHOW!
With Black Above—TWILL WARMER
If Black—WARMER—COLD—TWILL be blue; unless black's shown—no change we're in for.

The same forecasts are made for a period of thirty-six hours, ending at 8 o'clock to-morrow evening.

Townsend Heaton of Aberdeen has been confined to his bed for some days, but is now recovering, much to the joy of his many friends.

Councilman H. L. Newell has been suffering from an attack of Inflammatory rheumatism for several days, but is some better this morning.

Call meeting of Maysville Division No. 8, U. R. K. of P., this evening after Limestone Lodge adjourns. By order of the Captain.

JOHN L. CHAMBERLAIN, Recorder.

APPROACHING NUPTIALS.

Marriage of a Louisville Gentleman and an Aberdeen Lady.

The marriage of Mr. Lyne Herford of Louisville and Miss May Marvin Bradford of Aberdeen will take place on Wednesday, September 3rd.

The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. W. O. Cochran at the Central Presbyterian church in this city.

They will be at home in Louisville after October 1st.

Cost.

Just received a fresh-baked large of the celebrated Raymond Coal, the best Soco coal ever sold in this market. It is not attested by the fact that others have tried to handle it but could not buy it, and another coal is sold by a similar name, but it cannot be counterfeited and is sold only by J. H. Doseon.

The McKinley Club of the Fifth and Sixth Wards held an enthusiastic meeting last night. The membership was increased to 244. A letter was read from Major McKinley, extending his thanks and congratulations.

Mr. Jacob Ebenham, who is in the employ of the Chicago Lumber Co. at Des Moines, Iowa, says: "I have just sent some medicine back to my mother in the old country, that I know from personal use to be the best medicine in the world for rheumatism, having used it in my personal for several years. It is called Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It always does the work." 50 cent bottles for sale by J. James Wood, Druggist.

Mr. George Diner has opened a cigar store in his handsome new building on Market above Second.

Jennie V. Warwick has been elected First Assistant of the Colored School in place of Alice Paxton, resigned.

There's no need of going to Flensburgburg any more to trade horses; you can find a trade-ring at every crossroad.

By all means get a second copy of the new song. It will do to sit at the corner campmeeting at Morris's beautiful grove.

Mrs. Ida Huber of Charleston Bottom visited the family of Xerxes Berry at Pleasant Ridge last Saturday and Sunday.

John Bradford has had a break of bad luck, I might say. He has lost two horses and a nice steer in the past few weeks.

Mrs. Caroline Colburn has kindly given the school children play ground, providing the schoolhouse lot is not occupied by a fence.

The District Schoolhouse will be open to all that feels like showing their horn on the money question. Come on, ye oldies and goldies, bugs and weevils will open wide their mouths to the new law.

Mr. M. L. Williams is lying very low at her house in the Pelham farm. She has given up all hope of recovery, and expresses a desire to depart this life and be at rest. A Christian woman.

Let every parent and guardian in the District and all schoolmen ready for school, which will begin in October. Mr. Wm. H. Hicks will wield the rod, and world is to perceive it necessary. Plenty of good water has been provided, and everything done to make the school a pleasant and comfortable place. We expect to be the banner-bearers. If any of the patrons are not able to secure books for their children, and will report the matter to the Trustees, their wants will be supplied. It should be remembered that the new law compeys every parent and guardian to send all children between the ages of 7 and 14 to school.

We have got on to the lambs last week, we thought for a moment that the old Mason County Journal had come to life; but when we come to look closely we found that it was one of the Editors' putting out at us. Now, Mr. G. B. Biggs, if you think there's no here, two years you'll loose, and what will we do for you? We will be a plenty.

The tollgate man has pulled his horn, and now he wants to blow his horn; and I think he will think we'll be a plenty.

It has been held that consumption is hereditary, and the fact one person of a family had died of consumption, another could not escape it. This is partly true and partly untrue. A man with weak lungs is likely to transmit the disease to his children. The reason is in the weak lungs, and the weak should be allowed to develop. Keep the lungs full of rich, red, wholesome blood, and the weakness will disappear. Decaying tissues are the third cause of and still make weak lungs. It is necessary to add a little water to the lungs, and then a little air.

Consumption is the thing that Dr. Pierce's Golden Remedy does. This is what makes it cure. It is one of cures of consumption, and it is better than any other.

It cures it because it is better than any other. It cures it because it is better than any other.

It cures it because it is better than any other.

It cures it because it is better than any other.

It cures it because it is better than any other.

BUCKNER INTERVIEWED.

His Nomination for the Vice-Presidency Was Unthought and Unexpected.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 4.—Gen.

Robert Buckner, and admiral of the states for a couple of hours after the convention adjourned. Quite a number of ladies joined the throng which passed in and out of the general's room in the Delta Hotel. The general headed the list for vice-president, and when the ladies congratulated him, and with true Kentucky chivalry, declared that both the head and tail of the ticket were for the sex.

Associated Press, Gen. Buckner said:

"So far as my nomination is concerned it was entirely unsought and unexpected. I appreciate highly the honor which the convention has done me.

The selection of Gen. Palmer is entirely a matter of personal choice. I like Gen. Buckner, and while I would not care to predict what vote the ticket will obtain in my state, I am sure it will be sufficient to weaken the popular ticket and prevent its success in Kentucky."

The statement which he made is that every man which every democrat can stand upon. It is clear and straightforward and no one can doubt its meaning in any part. The convention made it plain enough that this was the ticket which he had in mind to go on, and to reach considerable proportions. I am willing to do what I can to promote it."

A Crew Prevents the Lexington Police From Taking His Picture.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 4.—There is a conflict here between Chief of Police McElroy and County Jailer W. B. Wilkerson. The noted crook arrested here some weeks ago, under his name as E. W. Barnes, the police want a picture of Barnes and Wilkerson refuses to force the prisoner to sit for a photographer. Barnes protests against taking a picture and claims he has given the key of his cell door to prevent being taken out for a photograph. Letters are pouring in on Chief McElroy from every quarter and he is anxious to get a like answer. Barnes is a notorious bandit, is a member of a notorious band of confidence men. The Commonwealth's attorney and county judge are also of the opinion that Barnes should be photographed, but the jailer will have nothing to do with assisting the police in curbing the criminal.
